Andover Academy Boys Help in Concert

Kittery, Me., March 12.—The grammar room of the Wentworth school won the Imperial Webster Dictionary given by Superintendent of Schools Alexander Dennett for the class which stood the longest in the spelling matches recently held between the schools in town. On Thursday Miss Farwell's class at the Wentworth school won from the Mark Dennett school in the final match. Lillian Colliton of the Dennett school, Miss Mabelle Moore teacher, stood the longest on the losing side and Gladys Spinney stood the longest on the winning side. Rev. Edward H. May gave out the words. Mr. Charles Prince was judge. These spelling matches have proven that good spellers are not a rarity.

Exeter, March 12. Local bird observers have reported that the arrival of blue birds have been noted, when the first one to be seen was March 8. As yet the robins have not made their appearance here. The first part of March has been noticeable for the non-appearance of wild geese. In past years, large flocks have made their northward flight to the waters of Great Bay before this date.

At the meeting of the parish circle at the First Congregational church on Thursday evening a talk on "Birds" was given by Professor Avis, an authority on ornithology. Mr. Avis, from his love for the bird study, has had his name changed to the Latin equivalent for the birds, avis. Music was furnished by Harold Jenkins, pianist, and a large number were present. Mr. Avis gave a very interesting and timely talk, and it was much appreciated by his listeners.

The report of the chief of police, Charles C. Gooch, for the last year contains the following statistics: Whole number of arrests, 90; females 4, males 86; abducting girl from home, 4; abusing children, 1; obscene language, 1; annoyance, 2; assault, 6; bastardy, 1; breaking and entering, 6; drunks, 47; escaped prisoners, 1; evading fares, 2; fighting, 2; idle person, 1; indecent exposure, 1; keeping liquor for sale, 2; noise and brawl, 1; reckless driving, 1; selling goods without a license, 1; setting fire, 1; signing another person's name, 1; stealing, 5; tramps, 2. The arrests were disposed of as follows: Awaiting trial, 14; cases continued, 10; discharged, 8; let go, 23; paid fines, 13; sent to county farm, 13; sent to jail, 2; sent to reform school, 2; suspended sentence, 6. The amount of property reported lost or stolen, $273; owners of property recovered, $530; doors found open and looked after, 113; windows found open and looked after, 15; tramps given lodgings, 201. The number of arrests this year is less by three than the number of last year. A notable fact this year is the number of tramps who have applied for lodging, the number exceeding that of the previous year by 167, or over twice as many.

The funeral services of Joseph Kruger, the five-year-old son of Frank Kruger, the little fellow who was drowned on Monday afternoon, and whose body was recovered on Tuesday, were held on Thursday at St. Michael's church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Finen. The rail bearers were his fellow playmates. The interment was in the cemetery here.

A pleasing event is set for Saturday evening of this week, when at the town hall, the combined musical clubs of Phillips-Exeter and Phillips-Andover academics will be heard in a concert. This will be the first time that such an event has been held here. Last year, the first year of such an arrangement, the concert was given at Andover. The combination consists of glee, mandolin, banjo and guitar clubs, and in the aggregate will be composed of nearly a hundred students. It will be a rare time for the lovers of college music, and will probably draw a large audience. Some time during the following week the combination will give a like concert at Boston.

The next athletic exhibition by any of the academics' teams is set for March 18, when the annual winter exhibition of the gymnasium team will be held. The members are at work daily in the different events, which will include exhibitions on the horizontal bar, parallel bars, side horse, flying rings and Indian clubs and dumb bell drills will also be among the programed events. Single and double tumbling are also features. The dumb bell and Indian club drills are for the possession of the Stevenson cup, which goes to the class excelling in the drill. The cup was presented by Col. Reginald C. Stevenson, '09, of this town several years ago. The winning class has its numerals inscribed on the trophy.

William H. Seaward is confined to his residence by an attack of the grip.

Kittery Point. F. H. Faffey of Portland was a visitor in town on Thursday. He has accepted the position as station master for this place which will open April 12.

Capt. E. M. Frisbee, proprietor of the Hotel Parkfield, has a lot of men at work painting the hotel in preparation for the coming summer.

Captain A. F. Rose is in Portland today on business. Mrs. George W. Blaisdell is recovering from her recent illness. The K. F. G. Fancywork Club met on Thursday with Mrs. E. B. Clark. Hot chocolate was served.

Miss Jessie Brooks of South Berwick is visiting her father, John P. Brooks. Rev. John P. Jones, formerly pastor of the Congregational church here and afterward a missionary in India for many years, was at Portsmouth a few weeks ago to attend some important missionary meetings at which he was the principal speaker. It has just been learned that he made his headquarters here and probably the eminent gentleman, who is now a doctor of divinity, wondered why more of his old friends and former parishioners did not call to see him. The fact is, the lady with whom he stopped is in poor health and could not let her friends know that Mr. Jones was here. We hope that he will find out the true reason for not seeing more of our people, and that he will not think it intentional.

The George B. French Company of Portsmouth has been awarded the contract for carpeting the Congregational church and men are at work on the same. There is now some talk of dedicating the church when it is opened again and inviting all the living former pastors to be present to participate in the exercises on or about March 24.

CHANGES COMING ON THE BOSTON & MAINE

Investigating Possibilities for a Belt on the Water Front

Some of the Bridge Draws Are Likely to be Worked by Machinery

Civil Engineers Smith and Rowell of the engineering department of the Boston and Maine railroad have been in this city, where they have been looking over the much talked of extension of tracks from the docks of the Portsmouth Coal Company, just put in, along the water front to Pelee's Island. This matter has long been in consideration and lately taken up by the Herald, giving the idea of what it would mean in the way of business along the water front.

It is understood that the engineers came here by request of the Board of Trade and Merchants' Exchange. The Herald predicts that this line of track may not come in the way of an extension covering all the whole of the engineering department of the Boston and Maine railroad have been in this city, where they have been looking over the much talked of extension of tracks from the docks of the Portsmouth Coal Company, just put in, along the water front to Pelee's Island. This matter has long been in consideration and lately taken up by the Herald, giving the idea of what it would mean in the way of business along the water front.

Power Apparatus for Bridge Draws. It is said that the Boston and Maine railroad will shortly put in a gasoline engine to operate the draw on the Dover Point bridge, also electric power on the Eastern and Western division draw at Portland.

If this is really the plan, it is hard to understand why the company allows the continuation of hand power on the draw of the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge, where navigation requires no small amount of use of the draw during the summer season.

NEW CASTLE NEWS EVENTS OF ELIOT

To Make Improvements in the Pythian Hall

A Delightful Dance Was Held on Thursday Evening

New Castle, March 12. When the timorous furry creature, which boys and dogs know as the groundhog, came out of his hibernation and predicted six weeks of cold, disagreeable weather, he seemingly did not place himself in the Annapolis class, through generations and centuries the groundhogs have held the record over meteorological bureaus and signal service and weather predictions and every other invention of the system of groundwork which we call modern science and the groundhog still retains his confidence. Yesterday and today are reminders that in a normal winter like the one just passed it would not be considered too late for a lot of frigid brooms to yet be happening around.

Pythian hall was the scene of a delightful event on Thursday evening, when a social assembly was given by Orville Amazeen. The hall was well filled with a merry party. Mr. Amazeen ranks second to none as a promoter of such social affairs and this dance was certainly evidence of the fact.

Mrs. Anna Willis is seriously ill with pneumonia. Her many friends wish for her a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. Alfred Meloon is able to be out after several days' restriction to his home.

Mr. Robert Lassider has returned from a month's sojourn with his parents in Norfolk, Virginia.

Miss Helen Giles has returned from a two weeks' outing in New York. Mr. Justin Yeaton and family, after a three weeks' sojourn with relatives, have returned to their home in Lynn.

The many friends of Captain Selden Wells were pained to learn of his illness at Wallis Sands life saving station.

At the weekly meeting members of Wentworth lodge, K. of P., voted to have steel ceilings added to their attractive hall, the work to begin the first of next week.

LUMBER FOR EARTHQUAKE REGION

Justin W. Brooks is hauling the lumber for a twenty-five foot addition to the barn on his place near the So. Eliot Methodist church.

The remains of Mrs. Alatta S. Leach were brought here today by Undertaker H. W. Nickerson for burial in the Bald Hill cemetery. Mrs. Leach died at Laconia, N. H., on Monday. The funeral was held this afternoon in the Kittery Second Methodist church, attended by Rev. Daniel Onstott.

Sylvester Staples has bought from George A. Ireland a tract of land in the rear of the Nathaniel D. Staples place.

SAVED BY WIRELESS

New York, March 12.—The schooner Asa J. Trainer is reported coming up the New Jersey coast at the end of a stout steel hawser attached to a sea going tug boat. The vessel is almost dismantled and the wreckage encumbers her deck and trails astern of her.

The rescue of the Trainer is another proof of the efficacy of wireless at sea, for it was the flashing waves between the shore and the passing craft that brought aid to the helpless craft.

The first known on shore of the night of the schooner was when late in the day a party of fishermen brought word that they had seen a dismantled schooner struggling up the coast.

They sent word to the United Wireless station at Atlantic City and the wireless took up the task.

OWNERS TURN DOWN MINERS

Refuse to Grant the Demands Laid Before Them

PRESENT COMPACT SUITS

Proposition That It Be Renewed For Another Term of Three Years—Workers Are Greatly Disappointed—Demands of Anthracite Men as Approved by National Convention—More Pay and Recognition of Union

Philadelphia, March 12.—The anthracite coal operators' committee met the hard coal miners' committee here and flatly refused to grant any of the demands the men laid before them. At the same time they proposed to the mine workers that the present agreement, which expires March 31, be renewed for another term of three years.

This decision, while not unexpected by the mine workers, since they long ago learned that the operators were against making any concessions, was a great disappointment to the men when they were officially informed of it.

When the conference adjourned last evening President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America and his colleagues fled out of President Baer's office with a spirit that was not as buoyant as that with which they entered the conference room. Lewis declined to comment on the developments of the day beyond stating that he and his committeemen would meet to discuss the situation. The miners will meet the operators again this afternoon.

The present agreement, made in New York three years ago, when John Mitchell led the miners in the negotiations, is identical with the award of the strike commission made in 1933 after the strike of 1932. Three years ago the miners made numerous demands, but all were rejected and they accepted the renewal of U. S. strike commission award, which is the same proposal made by the operators yesterday.

The demands of the anthracite men as drafted at a convention in Scranton last October and approved by the national convention in Indianapolis in January are as follows:

First—That an agreement shall be negotiated between the representatives of the miners and the operators of the anthracite region and all disputes arising under the contract shall be adjusted as provided for in the said agreement.

Second—That we demand the complete recognition of the United Mine Workers of America as a party to negotiations to a wage contract and the United Mine Workers of America shall be recognized in our right to provide any method we may adopt for the collection of revenue for the organization.

Third—That we demand an eight-hour day with no reduction in wages.

Fourth—That all coal shall be mined and paid for by the ton of 2000 pounds.

Fifth—That we demand a definite and more uniform scale of wages and prices for all classes of labor at all collieries in the anthracite region, and that all employees paid $1.50 a day or less per day shall receive a 10 per cent advance, and all employees paid more than $1.50 and less than $2 per day shall receive a 5 per cent advance.

Sixth—That the system whereby a contract miner has more than one job or employs more than two laborers be abolished.

Seventh—That the employers be required to issue uniform pay statements designating the name of the company, the name of the employee, the colliery where employed, the amount of wages and the class of work performed.

Eighth—That the contract shall be made for a period of one year.

Those who have followed the affairs in the anthracite region believe that it will be useless for the miners to further insist upon any material change in the present agreement.

So far as could be learned from the miners' committee the majority of the mine workers are opposed to a strike because they feel that they are not strongly enough entrenched to carry on a campaign of the magnitude of that of 1930 and 1932. But there are several men of influence in the delegation who say they would vote for a strike if no concessions were made.

Would Change Inauguration Date Washington, March 12.—Representative Henry of Texas asked permission of Speaker Cannon to introduce the first measure in the Sixty-first congress, a joint resolution proposing to amend the constitution of the United States so as to change the date of inauguration from March 4 to April 30.

Must Eliminate Fancy Names Washington, March 12.—As many packers put up "bump back" and "dog" salmon under fancy names and sell them to consumers who believe them to be superior varieties, the department of agriculture has ordered that these fish when canned shall be labeled with their common names.

TO PLAY FOR ALLEY TITLE

Winner of Match Tonight Will Be Hailed as Country's Greatest Bowler Cleveland, March 12.—The winner of tonight's bowling games, to be rolled by Louis Franz, champion of this city, and Jimmy Smith, the best bowler of Greater New York, will be hailed as the kingpin of American bowlers. Tonight's match will be the second half of the home and home series rolled by the two men, the first having been decided in Brooklyn on Feb. 22.

On Washington's birthday Smith ran away from Franz, taking fourteen of the fifteen games rolled. The result made the Cleveland man's backers shy about boosting their man, but they declare themselves confident that he will make a better showing tonight. The match is for $1000 a side, the entire amount going to the man winning the majority of the thirty games. The result in Brooklyn gave Smith a big lead for the money.

BIBLE AND SHAKESPEARE

Freely Quoted by a Prisoner Who Convinces Jury of His Innocence

Boston, March 12.—After pleading for two hours in his own behalf in his own defense without the aid of counsel, John W. Haley was acquitted in the superior criminal court of the charge of breaking and entering and larceny to steal. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty after being out only twenty minutes.

Haley was arrested for burglary in Somerville. In his argument Haley quoted freely from the Bible and Shakespeare and laid stress upon the alleged lack of evidence presented by the district attorney's office. He asserted that if he had had means of procuring witnesses, he could have proved an alibi.

FOURTEEN SCORES ARE PERFECT

Accident Mars Auto Run From New York to Boston

Boston, March 12.—Fourteen of the twenty automobiles which left New York at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning on the endurance run to Boston for the Chester I. Campbell trophy finished on schedule time at 6:30 last night with perfect scores. The tie will not be run off, but the holder of the trophy for the coming year will be decided by lot.

One serious accident marred the run, Aaron W. Wallace being killed at Fairfield, Conn., by attempting to jump from his carriage, his horse becoming frightened and running away at sight of the automobiles. Driver LaCroix was detained at New Haven on a technical charge to await developments, it being claimed his car was nearest the scene of the accident at the time.

Men's Bodies Found in Woods After Partaking of Luncheon

New York, March 12.—The bodies of two men who appeared to have died from poisoning were found in a clump of woods near Northfield, S. I. The coroner ordered that autopsies be performed to determine the exact cause of their death.

The men, one of whom has been identified as Paul Perleus, had been working together in the vicinity. After eating their luncheon they started out for a walk and did not return.

The theory is advanced that some one put poison in the food which the two ate at noon hour and the police have been asked to investigate.

LABOR LOSES IN BUCKS CASE

The "We Don't Patronize" List Declared Illegal

MAY REFER TO BOYCOTT

Court of Appeals Renders Decision in Which Could Decree Is Somewhat Modified—Chief Justice Gives Practically Dissenting Opinion Which Meets With the Approval of President Gompers

Washington, March 12.—The American Federation of Labor hereafter may freely refer to the boycott against the Bucks Stove and Range company of St. Louis except by inclusion in the "We Don't Patronize" list.

This, in substance, is the sweeping decision of widespread importance to the labor world, to manufacturers and to newspapers generally, handed down by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia in the noted injunction case of the Bucks Stove and Range company against the American Federation of Labor, which has been before the courts of the District of Columbia in various phases for months.

In a recent decision by Justice Gould of the supreme court of the district of Columbia the American Federation of Labor and the officers, Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell, Morrison and others, were enjoined from conspiring to boycott the Bucks Stove and Range company and from printing or publishing, or distributing through the mails or otherwise, any copy of the Federationist or other publication referring to the complaints, its business, or its products in the "We Don't Patronize" or "Unfair" list.

The decision Thursday, which was by Justice Robb, modifies and affirms the decree of Justice Gould. The court holds that the decree should be modified to the extent that it shall only restrain the defendants from conspiring or combining to boycott the business of the Bucks Stove and Range company, or threatening or declaring any boycott or assisting therein, and from printing the name of the complainant, its business or product in the "We Don't Patronize" or "Unfair" list of defendants in furtherance of any boycott against complainants' business or product and from interfering either in print or otherwise with complainants' business as in "We Don't Patronize" or "Unfair" list in furtherance of a boycott.

The court holds that the defendants cannot be restrained from all publications referring to the Bucks Stove and Range company, but only such as are made in furtherance of an illegal boycott.

In a practically dissenting opinion, in which he says that he is unable to concur entirely in the modified decrees of Robb, Chief Justice Shepard expressed the opinion that the decree should be modified "so as to restrain the acts only by which other persons have been or may be coerced into ceasing from business relations with the Bucks Stove and Range company, but so as not to restrain the publication of the name of that company in the 'We Don't Patronize' column of the American Federationist, no matter what the object of such publication may be suspected or believed to be."

Justice Van Orsdel concurred fully in the conclusion reached by Justice Robb, but by a different process or reasoning.

"The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Shepard," said Gompers, "is exactly that for which the Federation has been all along contending so far as it refers to the freedom of the press. The right to freely express opinions is a constitutional guaranty. There is nothing libelous in anything The Federationist has published in connection with this whole case."

The complaint was sworn out by Secretary Doyle of the civil service commission. His arrest is the outcome of an investigation conducted here by Doyle and other secret service agents.

It is understood that Doyle found from the testimony of some of the federal employees that Glick had solicited 2 percent of their salaries for political purposes, to be paid quarterly.

Glick is well known in this state as a promoter of electric railways and similar enterprises.

Wreckers Take Charge of Steamer Horatio Hall

DRIVEN AWAY BY WAVES

Captain Jewell and a Few Faithful Men Stuck by Ship Until She Was Almost Entirely Submerged—Captain of the Dimock Believes That His Vessel Can Be Saved—Efficacy of Bulkheads

Boston, March 12.—Tug John G. Chandler, having on board Captain Jewell and members of the crew of the steamer Horatio Hall, arrived here this morning, after having been held up for several hours on account of rough weather.

The tug found the sea so heavy off Race Point, with a fifty-mile gale blowing from the northwest, that she was unable to make headway yesterday afternoon and was compelled to leave to. After sundown the wind moderated and the tug again got underway.

Steamer Horatio Hall, which was sunk to her hurricane deck in Pollock Rip Sho in the collision with the steamer H. F. Dimock, was abandoned to the wreckers Thursday, and another fleet of professional sea physicians assembled about the stranded steamer Dimock on Nauset Beach to patch her wounds and give her another chance for a useful life.

It was not until the ship beneath him was almost entirely submerged that Captain Jewell decided to leave the Hall. Together with the four men who remained by him, he left the pilot house of the vessel, which was all that remained above water.

All the passengers of the Hall and the crew of the Dimock, came to Boston by train, leaving Captain Thompson of the Dimock and about a dozen of his officers and crew still aboard the steamer to assist the wreckers in their efforts to float her.

A heavy surf during the night swung the Dimock around until she was nearly broadside to the beach and also pushed her a trifle farther inshore. Tug Underwriter of the Boston Towboat company appeared on the scene Thursday to begin the wrecking operations. She was followed today by lighters and other tugs.

High and dry on the beach the Dimock lies on Orleans beach, and the wreckers and underwriters have begun their work of saving the ship.

Captain Thompson, whose action in beaching the ship saved many lives, believes that the Dimock can be saved. He gave a lengthy statement describing the collision and the wreck of his own steamer, but in no way attempting to place the blame.

Captain Thompson said that it was the discovery that the sounding tube had been plugged up that saved the ship. When the crew were taking soundings they could not find that the Dimock was shipping much water, yet the steamer was settling heavily.

Then an investigation was made and seven feet of water was found in the hold. It was then that Thompson decided to beach the steamer.

All the bulkheads on this steamer held well. If one of them had given way the Dimock would have sunk two miles from shore.

WANTS WHITE CHAMPION

Jeffries Declares Intention to Wrest Honors From Johnson

New York, March 12.—All doubts about the ultimate intentions of James J. Jeffries regarding a fight with Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world were set at rest when the California giant declared that the advent of Johnson is the only excuse for his present training, and an indication that he would have just one more fight, and that within the next six months.

Whereas, formerly Jeffries would never fight a negro, he declares that he will never fight a white man. The only reason he now contemplates re-entering the ring is because a negro declared himself champion of the world, and this he will not endure if he can avoid it.

Seven Calhoun Jurors

The cornerstone of the new federal courthouse at Portland, Me., was laid in the presence of federal officials with an informal observance.

MAKING LONG ARGUMENT

Washington Has Talked Nine Hours and Has More to Come

Nashville, March 12.—The fourth day of the arguments in the Garneck murder trial closed with Attorney Washington of the defense in the middle of his argument and two more attorneys to follow him. At this rate it is doubtful whether the case will go to the jury before Saturday.

Washington finished his ninth hour of argument when court adjourned at 5 p. m., Thursday. He made savage attacks upon the state's counsel and singled out Attorney General Garner.

Garner is reputed to have nearly as fiery a temper as Washington has, so counsel for the state insisted upon Garner's withdrawal from the room during Washington's address.

MONEY FOR GAME WARDENS

Sum of $2500 Was Peddled Out of Stephenson's Campaign Fund

Madison, Wis., March 12.—State Game Warden Stone explained to the senatorial primary investigation commission what disposition he made of $2500 which he received from Senator Stephenson's campaign fund. Most of the money was handed to deputy game wardens in amounts varying from $50 to $500, to be used in the interest of Stephenson's primary campaign.

Some $600 of the fund Mr. Stone could not account for except that he "just spent it." Stone said he had a similar experience as to campaign expenditures "when La Follette ran for governor the second time."

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF YOUNG GIRL

Maximum Penalty Is Imposed Upon Joseph Janer

Towson, Md., March 12.—Joseph M. Janer of Brooklyn was convicted of felonious assault upon Catherine Coerch, 12 years of age, also of Brooklyn, and was sentenced to twenty-one years in the Maryland penitentiary, this being the maximum possible under the particular count of the indictment on which conviction was had.

It was in evidence that Janer brought the child to Baltimore, representing her to be his daughter, and during two nights, one spent in a disreputable house and the other in a boarding house, repeatedly subjected her to most brutal ill-treatment.

Janer's counsel made a motion for a new trial, but this was subsequently withdrawn. When sentence was pronounced Janer showed not the slightest emotion. He was taken immediately to the penitentiary in Baltimore. Janer's wife was in court throughout the trial.

A PROHIBITION PROPOSITION

Bomb Sprung by Bay State Committee on Constitutional Amendments

Boston, March 12.—The legislative committee on constitutional amendments voted to report to the legislature a resolve providing for an amendment to the state constitution to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the commonwealth.

It was the feature of the legislative session of yesterday and one that stunned the Republican leaders, who foresaw that the legislature will be split wide open in the settlement of the prohibition issue suddenly thrust upon it.

The two cases that may still be presented are those involving oil shipments from Whiting, Ind., to Evansville, Ind., over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad by way of Dalton Junction, Ills.

WOULD BE CONGRESSMAN

There are now six announced aspirants formally in the field for representative to Congress to succeed Hon. Amos L. Allen of the first Maine District:

Hon. Richard Webb of Portland.
 Hon. Walter C. Emerson of Portland.

Hon. Edward C. Reynolds of South Portland.
 Col. Frederick Hale of Portland.

Hon. Walter B. Clarke of Portland.

Mr. Asher C. Hinds of Portland.

The Portland Argus fails to count one of these gentlemen when it classes Mr. Hinds, the newcomer in the field, as "No. 5."

By the way, there ought to be a good scrabble for the nomination with all those candidates in the field, and more to come.

May the best man win.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

The State's Revenue

There is wisdom of a highly suggestive sort in the letter addressed to the members of the legislature by John W. Kelley, Esq., of Portsmouth. There is a diligent hunt for public money just now, at all the state capitals and in Washington. And the method which all the searchers have in mind is to reach to the sources of revenue which are nearest at hand. In this state these are as Mr. Kelley points out, the god tax money, the license money and a direct inheritance tax. These require no readjusted assessments, no administrative machinery. They are sums of money which the state has only to reach out and lay hands upon.

The direct inheritance tax must be taken by the states very soon or the national government will seize upon it. There is thought at Washington of doing this very thing anyway. If New Hampshire wishes to provide her congressional delegation with an impracticable reason for voting against such a plan, she has only to take a direct inheritance tax for herself.—Concord Monitor.

A Man Who Made History

The death by suicide of Hinton Rowan Helper, former consul at Buenos Ayres, is reported from Washington. Helper was eighty years old and a name only, if he was even that. Half a century ago he was famous in every corner of the land.

A youth of twenty-eight, a North Carolinian of inferior birth and limited education, Helper published in 1857 a book which stung the South as even Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had failed to do, and which dealt slavery one of the most powerful blows it received. In "The Impending Crisis" Helper attacked slavery on its economic side, contrasting the progress of the free South with the backwardness of Southern development under slave labor; and where Mrs. Stowe's volume had contained statements capable of dispute or disproof, Helper's argument was unanswerable. His book was packed with remorseless facts, rivaled with fiery rhetoric. Within four years 150,000 copies were published. The Republican party circulated it as a campaign document.

Helper addressed his book "to the non-slaveholding whites of the South comprising the bulk of the Southern white population, and proved how the domination of an oligarchy of 8,000 slaveowners had paralyzed industry and put a blight on agricultural growth. He cited the billion-dollar excess of farm value in favor of the free States and showed that the hay crop alone of the free States exceeded in value the combined cotton, tobacco, rice, hemp, sugar-cane and hay crops of the slave States; how the maximum price of land in Kentucky was less than half the minimum price in Ohio; how there were three times as many people and eight times as many schools in free Michigan as in slave Arkansas.

He set off the illiteracy of the South against the intelligence of the North, where were located practically all of the nation's 360 publishing houses. He recalled the old pre-eminence of the South before the incubus of slavery had been fastened too heavily upon it, when Philadelphia sent to Charleston for finer goods than could be bought at home. He instanced the hostility of the slave aristocracy of Richmond to industrial enterprise as evidenced by its discouragement of Abbott Lawrence's project of utilizing the water-power of the James and affording Virginia the manufacturing wealth Massachusetts was to gain from Lowell and Lawrence.

Helper lived to see the full realization of his prophecy that the South needed only to be freed from the curse of slave labor to keep pace with the North in commercial and agricultural advancement. Obloquy was heaped on him; he had betrayed the South to its Abolitionist foes. The party reward of a South American consulship removed him from activity and he became known only as the protector of the Three Americas Railway. He wrote volumes, but he was distinctively a man of one book, and that one of the most important political tracts of American history.—New York World.

The Gallinger Bill

The opponents of the Gallinger mail subsidy bill in the house managed to defeat it by the close vote of 175 to 172, and got one vote from a member who was brought from a hospital in a wheel chair to cast it. It really should not have been necessary to resort to such a desperate act in order to squelch a rational business proposition. As already stated, the measure merely provided for better pay to certain classes of ships for carrying the United States mails through certain oceans. The notion of its advocates is that such payment will develop our commerce with South America and the occidental nations. That is something worth trying, and it will be tried some day. Other countries had that this sort of aid helps their business and the United States can well afford to make the experiment on its own account. The sixty-first Congress may be wiser than the sixtieth in this particular.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

Root for Chief Justice

There is a possibility that Elihu Root will be the next chief justice of the United States—a place which Mr. Taft is supposed to prefer to his present exalted station. Things have so shaped themselves that Mr. Root may go on the bench, while that is scarcely conceivable for Mr. Taft at least for some years. As the latter is sure of one term and has the possibility of another, Mr. Root could scarcely

In fact, it is easier than having an unhealthy one, without Kodol—for sometimes the stomach will keep healthy of itself, but it will never be unhealthy—until you take a little Kodol occasionally. And yet Kodol doesn't do anything but digest the food in a natural manner, and effectively assist the tired and overworked stomach to do its work properly. But by doing just this, Kodol at once relieves indigestion and all the aggravating symptoms and prevents dyspepsia. It accomplishes this just as surely as the law of "cause and effect."

Our Guarantee. Get a dollar bill if you are not benefited—the druggist will return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50-cent bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

expect to succeed him in the presidency eight years hence, when the New York senator will be in his 73rd year. Under these circumstances the Washington correspondent of the Springfield Union thinks it would not be surprising if the chief justiceship appealed to Mr. Root. It is known that Mr. Taft would be very glad to make him Mr. Chief Justice Fuller's successor.—Lowell Citizen.

As It Looks in New York

The New Hampshire Senate has adopted, by a vote of 21 to 1, a bill for the nomination of party candidates by a direct primary. It applies to congressmen, the governor, and other state officers, county officers, supervisors of check lists, and moderators. It does not hold for United States senators. The party state convention is retained, but only in name. It is to consist solely of the candidates for governor, councilors, senators and representatives, and its function shall be to formulate a party platform and name the state committee. In other words, the law would seem to place personality emphatically above principles. The candidates are first to be chosen, and it is left to them to decide on what platform they shall appeal to the people. Yet the arrangement is fair enough. Either a candidate has been successful at the primaries because he has given satisfactory proofs of party orthodoxy, in which case his platform is apt to be fairly representative of party principles. Or else he has been successful in opposing them, in which case his platform will again be representative of the party majority. Winston Churchill has gathered no solid fruit in New Hampshire, but the influence of his work is nevertheless felt in curious, hopeful stirrings now and again.—New York Evening Post.

A Lesson in Advertising

Mr. Roosevelt's work is a splendid example of the result of good advertising.

He stands today as the best advertising man in America.

It is going to be mighty hard to associate the "ex" in connection with Mr. Roosevelt.

Throughout his entire history he has followed the practice of letting the people know.

This is advertising. But this kind of advertising can only be employed by people who have the goods.

Whether or not Mr. Roosevelt has been more honest than other presidents, more sagacious, more patriotic, is not the point.

The lesson which we can learn from Mr. Roosevelt is that it pays to take the public into our confidence.

Even when Mr. Roosevelt has made a mistake, publicity does not seem to have injured him. On the contrary, it has seemed to do him good, because we all realize that mistakes are possible, and when there is a disposition to hide and cover up, forgiveness is withheld.

Like all good advertising men, Mr. Roosevelt has done a good many things which were none of his business. Work which he believed was necessary but which did not belong to his department.

His thorough confidence in his convictions, his absolute belief that he was justified in doing right has stood between him and censure.

There never was an advertising man worth while who did not have to go beyond the limits of his own work. Like Mr. Roosevelt, the good advertising man frequently finds himself doing things outside of his regular duties, things which seem to require attention.

This is broad-mindedness. It is strength. When done with the sole purpose of benefiting others, honestly and fearlessly, it makes for ultimate harmony.

Success and good wishes to Mr. Roosevelt, America's best advertising man.—The Commercial Union.

TOWN ELECTIONS

BRENTWOOD

Selectmen, Burton L. Smith, G. Russell Rowe, Samuel S. Dudley, Clerk, Charles Flanders. Treasurer, Frank H. Wood. Library trustee, Mabel G. Snyder. Town surplus, $190. Appropriations: Town charges, $1400; Memorial day, $50; good roads law, amount required by law.

WINDHAM

At own meeting it was voted to raise $500 for necessary town charges, $200 for highways and bridges, $100 to continue publication of early records of Londonderry, if that town and Derry consent, $100 to repair highway from Mrs. Henry Richardson's to William Handschuuncher's if the latter will add $50 and a sum not exceeding $125 for Old Home day and exercises connected with the unveiling of a memorial tablet at the birthplace of Gov. Samuel Dinsmoor next July. A committee of arrangements was chosen for this event, and it was voted to invite Jarvis Dinsmoor of Sterling, Ill., to give the oration.

It was voted that the selectmen convey to Mary E. Casey all the town's interest in the Stephen S. Demott place; to accept the gift of a small plot of land from S. W. Gould; and to receive funds for care of cemeteries and burial lots when given with a proviso that the donor is to receive the income during his life. After an appeal by A. O. Alexander it was voted unanimously to reimburse the towns of Methuen, Mass., and Salem for services of their fire departments at the fire at Dow's grove last July; the sum of $150 was raised for this purpose it being stated that O. A. Kenefick would pay one-fourth of the amount of bills which totaled about $200. An informal vote was passed that the selectmen print the inventories of 1908 and 1909 and distribute to voters before the next annual meeting.

HALE'S POLITICAL FENCES

Maine Senator Will Get a Reselection from Next Legislature

Portland, Me., March 12.—John F. Hayes, the legislative correspondent for the Argus, sends his paper the following from Augusta:

If Senator Hale is in good health two years hence it is probable that he will be re-elected to the United States Senate without opposition. Judge Frederick Powers of Houlton, who is ambitious to serve his state in the upper branch of Congress, has dropped, for the time, the fight he has been making and is now in California with Mrs. Powers. Until recently Judge Powers and his friends were actively engaged in building a machine in several of the counties in the state in preparation for the legislature of 1911 when a United States Senator will be elected. The only opposition to Senator Hale, at this time, comes from the Lewiston Journal, which is continuing its campaign against him.

A Republican who is familiar with the situation, said today, that the reason Judge Powers stopped his campaign was because of the threat made by the Hale forces that unless he got out of the way at this time they would oppose him when the Senator got ready to retire and would swing their strength to former Gov. Cobb. If he would remain out of the fight they promised that they would support him for the Senatorship when the time came.

A man close to the Powers element in the Republican party, and who is generally regarded as being familiar with their position, admitted this morning that there would be little or no opposition to the re-election of Senator Hale. "While I do not speak with authority," he said, "it is my opinion that Judge Powers will not be an active candidate before the Legislature two years from now, unless the candidates should change."

Senator Hale is particularly strong and would probably win in a contest. It is generally known that Judge Powers is ambitious to represent Maine in the United States Senate and should the opportunity offer he would be a candidate in two years. He is not interfering or taking an active part in the politics in the state now."

Asked if Mr. Powers was making an active canvass for the position, he replied: "Mr. Powers is now in California with Mrs. Powers, which would not be the case if he was to enter into a contest with Senator Hale at the next legislature. As I said before, Senator Hale is particularly strong. He is an astute politician and he never misses a point in the game. He has been in Congress since 1881. There has been considerable criticism of his position on many matters affecting Maine and many people believe he has had all from the state that he is entitled to, but he has a hold on the senatorship which will be hard to loosen."

"Is his visit to Maine at this time significant?"

"I shouldn't be surprised if he was here looking after his fences, but then he has faithful friends in Maine looking after his interests."

The fact that Senator Hale will remain in Maine till the opening of the special session of Congress March 15, is taken by many to indicate that his purpose in coming here is to look after his political fences, in the light of the Powers' candidacy for his place, but an intimate friend of the Senator said this morning that he understands that he will not visit the legislature. This is taken by many to indicate that he has no fears of his re-election.

GREENLAND

Mr. Arthur Doolittle has returned from his trip, very much benefited in health. The Greenland Athletic Club held one of their whist parties on Thursday evening. Mr. George Clough and Miss Bertha Bennett won the first prizes. The attendance was good. Miss Markley of Boston, whose engagement to Mr. Edward Holmes of this town, has been announced, is visiting here for a week.

The grip is very prevalent and scarcely a family in town has escaped a visit.

THE DEATH OF A. D. SANBORN

Was State Commander in the Grand Army of the Republic

Franklin, March 12.—Capt. Augustus D. Sanborn, commander of the department of New Hampshire, Grand Army, is dead at his summer home at Alton Bay, from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy which he sustained on Saturday night.

Captain Sanborn was a native of this city and went from here to the civil war, in which he did meritorious service.

Mr. Sanborn enlisted as a private in Company H, First New Hampshire Volunteers, April 20, 1861. He was promoted to sergeant, and Oct. 20, 1862, was commissioned second lieutenant. He became first lieutenant of Company B, Dec. 20 of that year and on Feb. 1, 1864, was made captain of Company G. Oct. 30, 1864, he closed his army service.

Captain Sanborn was a charter member of Revere post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Canton, Mass., and later moved to New Haven, Conn., where he became commander of Admiral Foote post.

A few years ago he returned to Franklin, continuing his interest in Grand Army circles, and advancing in the organization until elected department commander.

Captain Sanborn is survived by a widow and a brother.

For many years he resided in New Haven, but came back to his native town a few years ago to take charge of the needle department of the Mayo Knitting Machine and Needle Company. After retiring from that position about three years ago he went to Alton Bay for the summer and passed most of the time there since.

The body will be brought here for burial Saturday. Services will be held at the Free Baptist church in the afternoon.

KIDNEYS WEAR OUT FIRST WITH AGE

Tells of a Recipe Valued by Elderly People to Relieve Kidney and Bladder Trouble

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that torturous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged functions of the kidneys, which have become clogged and sluggish, failing in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning.

Hundreds of readers who suffer will find the following, which is known as the Dandelion mixture, the most harmless and effective treatment to clean the system of rheumatic poisons, remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system.

The Dandelion mixture consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water.

This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and afflictions of the kidneys and bladder and rheumatism.

SCHLEY CALLED AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, March 12.—Rear Admiral Schley saw the inside of the White House for the first time in several years on Thursday. Since President Roosevelt took the other end of the Santiago sea battle controversy the admiral has walked a long way around when going from the navy department to any place downtown.

He called with Senator Rayner, of Maryland, who said, when the two came from the President's office: "No other two persons are happier to see Mr. Taft in the White House," and the admiral smiled acquiescence.

The Bellamy Storers, Senator Bailey, Senator Nelson and Admiral Schley are only a few of the persons who, since Mr. Roosevelt retired, have returned to the White House after years of absence.

COLONEL TETLEY RETIRED

Mason of this city has been ordered to assume command of the regiment, pending the appointment of Colonel Tetley's successor.

At 4.30 o'clock they met at the Wentworth school building and then proceeded to the home of their superintendent, Mr. Alexander Dennett, on Echo street. Surprise was on every feature of Mr. Dennett's face as he answered the call at the door and found his teachers standing there, seeking admittance. He soon realized that it was a "meeting of the teachers," but one about which he had not been consulted.

Mrs. Dennett, who had been admitted into the secret, and her cousin, Miss Emma Rogers, gave them a hearty welcome. The time was very pleasantly spent in social chat interspersed with music and games. Refreshments of crackers, cakes, cocoa, fruit and ice cream were served.

Mr. L'Amoureux, principal of Traip Academy, in behalf of the teachers presented Mr. Dennett with a picture of the "Southern Madonna," as a token of the appreciation of Mr. Dennett's three years of faithful service. Seventeen were present, the entire teaching force of the town.

A musical and literary entertainment was provided and the "baby show" caused much amusement. Refreshments were served. A large number of applications for membership were received.

Windham, March 12.—The funeral of Mrs. Betsey Jane Cochran, wife of Elder William D. Cochran, who died Tuesday afternoon, after two and a half years of invalidism, at the age of seventy-three, was held this afternoon. Previous to her illness and industry, not only in the home but in all matters that were for the good of the community. For fifty years her whole life had been one of great activity and industry, not only in the community life, and no one can exactly fill the place of "Aunt Betsey." A communicant in the local Presbyterian church for sixty years, she was by early training and intelligent choice devotedly attached to the doctrines and activities of the church of her Scotch-Irish ancestors. She was long a faithful teacher in the Sunday school, a worker in the ladies' society and a valued member of the Windham grange from the time of its organization. She was born Jan. 18, 1836, the daughter of Joseph and Margaret Armstrong, and was a life long resident of the town. May 11, 1863, she married William D. Cochran, to whom she was a true helpmeet. Of their four children, one son is living, Harlan A. Cochran of Derry, and the widow and two daughters of a deceased son, Elmer H. Cochran, survive.

The Perfect Woman Is Not a Fat One

Artists say the ideal proportion of weight in a woman is 26 pounds for every foot of her height. This would make a woman of 5 feet 4 inches weigh 136 pounds 8 ounces.

If you weigh more than this in proportion you are on the danger line and are likely to get too fat in a few years. Check it by taking a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of this recipe: 1-2 ounce Marmola, 1-2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3 1-2 ounces Peppermint Water. Get the Marmola sealed and mix it with the other ingredients at home. This mixture is been known to take off seven pounds of fat a week without any help from exercise or dieting. It is inexpensive.

Fry of Claremont asked why no hearing had been given after the bill was recommitted.

Rand of Laconia, chairman of the committee on fisheries and game, said the committee believed the bill to be the best possible in favor.

Foster of Claremont offered an amendment restricting the hunters of Sullivan and Cheshire counties to shotguns instead of rifles. He moved that the bill be made a special order or next Tuesday at 11:15.

O'Neil of Walpole wanted this matter disposed of at once and so did Madden of Keene.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Madden moved to strike out Cheshire county from Mr. Foster's amendment.

The main question, shall the bill be indefinitely postponed, was put and the negative prevailed.

The next question was, shall the bill be placed back upon the second reading for purposes of amendment.

A roll call demanded by Sanborn of Milimant, was pending but, by unanimous consent.

Felker of Rochester objected and the roll proceeded after Felker, Kearns, of Somersworth and Clough of Lebanon had pleaded for free and unlimited speech and Watson of Nashua had assured them they should have it.

The roll call resulted: Yes 34, no 226, and the house refused to put the bill back upon its second reading.

The bill was read a third time by its title on motion of Watson of Nashua.

On motion of Felker of Rochester the house took a recess at 1:30 until 2:15.

Buffum of Winchester supported the Madden amendment. Foote of Jaffrey opposed it.

The Madden amendment was adopted and Cheshire county was left in the bill.

The Foster amendment, as amended, was supported by him in a brief speech.

Fry of Claremont took the same ground and criticized the action of the committee in not giving a hearing on the matter.

O'Neil of Walpole reiterated his argument that the rifle is the humane arm with which to hunt deer.

Seavey of Barrington favored the amendment.

Rand of Chester said the long distance rifle is a dangerous thing to fool with.

The Foster amendment was lost.

Center of Jaffrey moved to add to the bill a provision that there shall be no open season on deer in Cheshire county, saying that this expressed the sentiment of the Cheshire county delegation.

Boyle of Jaffrey wanted to know why in the first place Cheshire and Sullivan counties had been the subjects of discrimination in regard to the deer season.

Gray of Jackson for the committee on fisheries and game said long and exhaustive hearings had been given in this matter and the bill reported represented the best judgment of the whole committee.

Boyle of Chesterfield said there should be an open season in Cheshire county if the rest of the state was to have one.

The Center amendment was lost.

Fish of Charlestown moved that the rules be suspended and the bill read a third time and passed. Carried. The bill passed.

The Tax Commission.

At 12:50 Ahern of Concord called for the special order, the house bill to create a permanent tax commission.

PLANS FOR TEST OF SCOUT CRUISERS

GREAT INTEREST IN THE RACE AND SOME VALUABLE DATA EXPECTED.

There is much interest in the tests which will be conducted soon to demonstrate the relative efficiency of the three types of motive power in the scout cruisers Salem, Chester and Birmingham which are now being placed in readiness for the forthcoming trials. The Salem and Birmingham are at this yard and the Chester is at the New York yard. These three vessels have been in commission about a year. The Chester has been to the Azores and back, the Birmingham has been down in the West Indian waters and the Salem has cruised along the coast. But the three sister ships have never been matched one against the other. Now they are to be tried out under exactly the same conditions, to determine which is the better ship.

The Salem is equipped with Curtis turbines, the Chester with Parsons turbines, and the Birmingham with reciprocating engines. The forthcoming tests will be four in number, and in all of the trials Newport, R. I., will be the base. The first test will be with all the ships in company running at maximum speed for 24 hours. The second trial will be a race of 100 hours at 20 knots an hour, the course being 2000 knots. The third trial will be a smaller race of 60 hours duration at 15 knots, and the fourth will be a race of 100 hours at 10 knots. The cruisers will start out with the same amount of coal in their bunkers. All conditions will be absolutely equal. Thus it is planned to determine which ship has the best speed-making machinery. The course will be from Newport out into the North Atlantic, but it is doubtful if the cruisers get as far as the Azores, as in the tests they will probably sail half the distance out and the other half back.

THE SAGAMORE ENGINE BOYS

Celebrated Their Ninth Anniversary with a Banquet and many Speeches

The Sagamore Engine Company, No. 1, observed their ninth anniversary on Thursday evening and the occasion was without doubt the most enjoyable in the history of the organization.

It was a social success from beginning to end and the hundred people who gathered as guests of the Sagamore boys last night say it beat anything so far carried out by any engine company of the department.

The banquet was served at ten o'clock and for an hour or more the guests had a merry time at the festive board. It consisted of:

Cold Roast Turkey
Escalloped Oysters
Ham and Chicken Sandwiches
Mashed Potatoes
Olives, Rolls, Pickles
Assorted Cake
Coffee
Cigars

Chief Engineer John D. Randall was toastmaster of the evening and nobody got by without a speech or song. The speakers, however, were numerous and included officers of the department, ex-chief engineers and members of the city government.

An orchestra of six pieces added much to the occasion as did Horace L. Rowe and several vocalists that held down the piano.

Among the guests were the board of engineers, John D. Randall and assistants William Woods and Joseph W. Ahern, ex-Chief Engineer B. J. Sullivan, ex-Assistant Chief L. T. Burnham, Captain Cox of Engine 2, Captain Wallace of Engine 3, Captain Littlefield of Engine 4, Horace W. Gray, president of the veterans' association, Councilmen Newick, Payne, ex-Aldermen R. A. Kirvan and John Hallam.

The committee who perfected the arrangements that led to such a fine celebration were Captain John Murphy, Lieutenant Edward Pendergast, Clerk Thomas A. Moran, John Quirk, Alvin Dares.

THE NAVY YARDS HERE AND AWAY

Visiting Boston

Lieut. Commander and Mrs. A. B. Hoff are in Boston today, looking over the sights at the automobile show.

May Go Back to Old Pay Day

Although no official orders have been received on the Mare Island navy yard relative to the semi-monthly pay days, it is reported that the order approving of the old plan for the clerical force has been approved by the secretary of the navy and that the clerks will go back to the former rule on the sixteenth of this month. Whether this report will prove authentic or not will probably be shown during the present week.

Do They Really Know What They Want?

The clerks at the New York yard are agitating the abolishment of weekly payments.

The Salem Goes to Sea

The scout cruiser Salem, which has been in the dry dock since last Saturday, came out at eleven o'clock and immediately put to sea. The cruiser moved under her own steam and in less than ten minutes was rounding Fort Point at a fair clip. She will assemble with her sister ships the Chester and Birmingham at the Bradford, R. I., coaling station whence the ships will shortly start on the race to the Azores Islands.

On the Hike Again

Five hundred marines, including the guard of the U. S. S. Wisconsin, did an hour of hiking and drilling about the yard today.

Keep Off the Cars

An order has been issued by Constructor Evans at the Mare Island yard prohibiting the yard employees from riding on the locomotive and cars when moving about the yard.

The Wisconsin to be Moved

The battleship Wisconsin will be moved tomorrow from her present berth at the Hatiron pier to the quay wall in the place of the Birmingham. Tugs of the local navigation company will assist the navy tug in moving the vessel.

Waiting for Men

The Paducah did not sail until this morning. She will remain in the lower harbor for a detachment of men from the receiving ship Wash and Newport training station before putting to sea.

Still They Come

Twenty-five privates and two corporals of the marine guard from New York yard came here on Thursday. They will be assigned to duty at their yard barracks.

Prisoners Arrive

Eighteen prisoners from Philadelphia and three from New York were sent to the Southern today.

It Saves Considerable Time

The new arrangement under which the men of the manufacturing department are now being paid is likely to save considerable time consumed in the payment of workmen and is a decided improvement over the old system.

The Other Cruiser Goes In

The Birmingham replaced the Salem in the dry dock today. She is expected to come out on Tuesday next.

THE COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST

This Year's State Convention Is to Be Held in Portsmouth

Another important convention to be held in this city the coming summer is that of the New Hampshire Companions of the Forest.

This is the first time the ladies of this organization will meet in this city and in coming here they have selected the convention city of the state.

The local Circle of Foresters have already begun preparations for the entertainment of the visitors and it is safe to say Portsmouth will give them a royal good time. The dates have not yet been announced to the Portsmouth people but it will probably last two or three days.

MAY CHANGE THE RUN

Fast Western Division Express May Come to the Eastern Division

Among the changes mentioned in the summer schedule of train service of the Boston and Maine railroad is the running of train number 5, fast St. John's express over the Eastern division. This train is now on the Western division, Boston to Portland.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

A substitute for the heretofore southern baseball trip is being considered by the management in a plan for games with teams in the New England league and a possible week of practice games with Andover academy at Andover. While no definite arrangements are as yet formulated, the scheme is being favorably considered because of the excellent opportunities afforded for ante-season practice. The idea seems feasible as otherwise no systematized practice games can be expected before the first game with Bowdoin at Hanover April 28. Final plans are expected to mature by the end of the week. Announcement has been made that the game scheduled with Tufts at Hanover May 6 has been cancelled because of a conflict in schedules between the two colleges. This will make the first game with Trinity May 8, the first in Hanover after the two opening contests with Bowdoin the preceding week.

Spring football practice this year will be begun as soon as the spring vacation is over. At that time Captain Tobin will call out all the men who were out for the team in the fall. It is expected that at least fifty men will answer the call. Captain Tobin will have entire charge of the work, without the assistance of any coaches. The practice will consist chiefly in passing the ball and developing the center and quarterback positions. The backfield will also be given a workout. The senior members of the team will assist Captain Tobin in training the men and rounding up the preliminary work.

The College club reception to the faculty community and the students will be held next Monday evening and also the week following, March 15 and 22, at College hall. These receptions, instituted with marked success a year ago, were held then at the close of the fall term, but were postponed this year until this month, owing to the fraternity initiation banquet season in December. The first reception, next Monday evening, will be tendered the members of the senior and junior classes, together with the students of the Medical, Thayer and Tucker schools. The following Monday will be freshman-sophomore night, when the two lower classes will be received in like manner. It was thought more advantageous to include the entire student body in two receptions this year, as it is somewhat inconvenient for many of the faculty to attend all four functions.
